

Whitehaven, West Cumbria

The land at the former Marchon site, Whitehaven is the largest brownfield housing allocation in Cumberland. The early phases of development are capable of delivery 350 – 400 new homes in a high-quality settling.

Additional phases of development extending to 35 – 40 acres are also available and identified as a development opportunity site with the adopted Local Plan. The additional land offers the potential for further residential development with local centre and public realm improvements.
